New Red Cross Policy

The announcement last week that the national organization of the Red Cross had adopted a new policy regarding co-operation with other community fund raising organizations, such as the Community Chest, must have been greeted with relief by most of the people of this area, subscribers to the many funds, local officials and convassers.

Hitherto, sparked by the Red Cross stand, a number of "national" charitable appeals have stood aloof from participation in the local Community Chest. The result has been that the number of local canvasses had not been reduced as much as had been hoped by the formation of the Chest.

The new policy, announced last week by the board of governors in Washington, D.C., now permits local Red Cross units to join with other fund raising drives, under certain conditions. While it is true that this is a decision in the United States, it may be presumed that the Canadian headquarters will follow suit as the American decision was a recognition of "the growing desire of business, industry and labor to reduce the number of appeals to workers, to reduce the cost of conducting campaigns and to reduce the manpower required in campaigns."

With the Red Cross adopting this attitude, the other "national" fund raising organizations may be expected to fall in line.

Local officials of either the Red Cross or the Community Chest have not as yet had an opportunity to study the new position the Red Cross's new policy makes possible. However, it may be assumed that in the interest of local harmony and efficiency and with a desire to eliminate repeated canvasses and duplication of effort, the officials will approach the new situation in a co-operative spirit which will ensure a happier and more successful charity appeal situation in this area.

Come Back, Miss Hutton!

As another season of swimming instruction by Margaret Hutton draws to a close, it should be publicly recorded that Kelowna appreciates that it is very fortunate in having Miss Hutton as swimming mentor here during the past three seasons.

The results of her efforts are plainly visible; indeed, this year a good many thousands of people have thrilled to the very excellent displays of her pupils. But, while it is nice to have the public pleased, the basic value in her efforts comes from the increased swimming ability of the young men and women who have trained under her expert instruction. Certainly in no small city in Canada—and probably the United States—is there a corps of young women as expert in rhythmic swimming as the Hutton group in Kelowna. The results of training are beginning to show, too, in the swimming race results. This year Kelowna swimmers have done much better than for many years, evidence that a group of well-trained youngsters are coming along and that they will eventually make the yellow and gold again a potent force in the swimming world.

Kelowna owes much to Margaret Hutton. She has been the key, the spark, the inspiration for scores of youngsters. She has been one of the very great assets of the Aquatic Club and her youngsters provided some of the outstanding moments of the Regatta. As another season ends, the hope must be expressed that Miss Hutton will be back again in Kelowna next year. We want her and we need her.

Why "Junior"?

Why is the regatta or water show staged each August at the Aquatic Club called the "junior" regatta? The answer obviously is so as to distinguish it from "The" Regatta. It needs some distinctive name, of course, but isn't it about time that the word "junior" is dropped for something just a little more suitable?

The present name suggests something inferior and the impression it gives the average stranger is that it is something just gotten up as a bit of a lark by a bunch of kids. It is nothing of the kind, of course; it is a complete water sports program carefully arranged and of excellent calibre. Excepting for The Regatta itself, the so-called "junior" regatta is probably the best annual water show in Western Canada. It is an excellent miniature of Canada's greatest water show.

Why, then, continue to give it a bad start by giving it a "bad name"? Why not forget the junior idea and decide that in its six years, the August regatta has grown up? Why not find a more suitable name. Indeed, why not call it the "club regatta"?

Canadian National Starts Uptown Offices Changes

Long-mooted renovation of the Canadian National Railways building on the north-east corner of Bernard and Water got under way on Saturday morning. Some years ago the railway company purchased this building which housed their telegraph and uptown ticket offices. At that time, it was announced that the building would be altered to suit the company's requirements.

The CNR telegraph and uptown ticket offices have been moved to temporary quarters in the upstairs of the building, the entrance to which is off Water Street. The renovation will include an entire new front in the modern manner and in keeping with the majority of the present business premises on Bernard.

The railway offices will occupy the entire downstairs of the building, the offices extending across the entire front. The counter and the new office fixtures will be of blonde birch.

The eastern portion of the building which is now being absorbed into the railway office was for many years occupied by a barber shop. During the past two years it has been vacant for the most part because of the projected renovations. Last summer, prior to Regatta, it was used as the uptown Regatta headquarters.

The renovations are expected to take about two months. Hold Men's Annual Fivepin Meet Tonight Captains of all teams wishing to enter the Bowldrome men's commercial fivepin league are asked to be on hand tonight for the annual meeting. Site is the Bowldrome at 8 o'clock.

MAYOR W. B. HUGHES-GAMES was the first individual to purchase a ticket for the 2nd annual Okanagan Valley Gymkhana to be held over Labor Day.

Sponsored jointly by the Kelowna Lions Club and the Okanagan Valley Light Horse Improvement Association, last year's gymkhana was so successful that it has been decided to hold it in Kelowna for at least the next three years.

The first day of the gymkhana will be held at the Gutsachan Farm, while The City Park will be the scene of activities on Labor Day.

Kelowna Swimmers, Divers Dominate Annual Junior Regatta Competitions

LESSER luminaries in Kelowna's International Regatta sparked as bright as the broiling sun yesterday as the annual junior regatta was staged before a large appreciative crowd.

The men and women, boys and girls, who were mostly also-rans when competing against the best in the country in the Regatta proper, had their own innings Sunday—and everyone loved it.

As in years past the large Kelowna representation dominated the pool events against the best the rest of the valley had to offer. Competitors in the swimming and diving and open water events came from as far as Kamloops in the north to Penticton in the south.

Pert Alice dePyffer made it three years in a row when she captured the senior women's aggregate to retain the James Hawthorn Cup. Big Roger Tait splashed his way to the men's aggregate honors. Announcement of the junior aggregate winners was withheld until a further check of results is made.

Diving honors were shared by Mrs. Irene Athans and Dave Harrop, both of Kelowna.

One of the finest team performances outside of that of the Okanagan Swimming Club was that given by the group of seniors and juniors from the Vernon Cadet Camp.

Success of the OSC members was all the more astounding owing to the fact that several of them had just returned from the Spokane meet, around 4 a.m. yesterday. Long distance honors were shared by Joan McKinley of Kelowna and B. Armstrong, of the Vernon Cadet Camp.

Charles Edward Williams, 77, died in Vernon hospital yesterday. He had been in failing health for over four years.

Native of Ontario, he and his late wife came to Kelowna 16 years ago from Kelowna, B.C. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Day's Funeral Service.

District Sports Fans Satiated With Menu Provided On Week-end

Action on a variety of fronts (the past week, with the accent over the week-end, gave sports-minded fans one of the busiest seasons this year. Behind most of the activity was a fever induced by the playoff bug.

More of the same is promised before summer sports slowly fade out and the gears start turning out the fall and winter menu.

In lacrosse the final stages for the Joe Wyse and Rowell cups, held the last two years by Kelowna Bruins was reached. Kamloops Klippers and Kelowna Bruins are the finalists, with the best-of-seven series beginning at Kamloops tomorrow night.

On the baseball front there were two spheres of activity. In the Interior Baseball League the Rutland Adanacs turned in the upset of the year by ousting the favored Revelstoke Spikes.

DECIDE OPPOSITION Now they are bidding their time for Kamloops Okonoks and Kamloops CYO to decide the opposition in the final. Rutland will meet the winner at Kamloops Sunday.

In the Okanagan-Mainline set-up Penticton and Kamloops went through a tie-breaker at Kamloops yesterday to decide first and second place. Penticton won the favored spot by virtue of the 2-1 decision. Semi-finals begin next Sunday with Oliver pitted against Penticton and Kamloops taking on Vernon in sudden-death fixtures.

Interior finals in softball were started in Rutland and Kamloops yesterday. Kelowna Aces drew first blood in their set against Kamloops Silver Streaks with a 3-2 verdict at the Mainline city. Series will conclude here Sunday.

Over in Rutland the Rovers were rocked by Vernon Knight's Wolves and the Rutlanders will have their backs against the proverbial wall when they go to Vernon next Sunday to complete the best-of-three final.

While all this was going on the cricket faithful were over at the Oval gaining an inkling of what will happen when the Okanagan eleven takes on the famed Marylebone Cricket Club at Vernon Aug. 20. The chosen Valley squad were

Discharged Electric Linemen Seek Arbitration Proceedings In Disagreement With City

C.N.R. OFFICIALS VISIT KELOWNA

A. A. Gardner, general passenger traffic manager, Canadian National Railways, here today was a city visitor on Friday when he made a general check on the affairs of his department in this area.

He was accompanied by W. G. Connolly, passenger traffic manager of western lines, Winnipeg. The two officials arrived Friday morning and left Friday evening.

EXPECT ARENA ICE READY BY END OF SEPT.

Kelowna and District Memorial Arena should be ready for winter operations around the end of September.

While Manager Percy Dowd was unable to give any specific date when the ice would be ready, he said he hoped it would be Oct. 1.

Two things for which the arena will not be used this year are the Ice Sensations of 1951 and as a training camp for Victoria Cougars.

Cougars announced last week they had decided to train at Saskatoon where they could play exhibition games with prairie clubs in the new Pacific Coast pro circuit. The Victoria Cougars intend to stop off in the interior of B.C. on their way home for the league opener early in October for exhibition games. However there appears little likelihood of the Cougars showing here, according to Mr. Dowd.

There is neither a guarantee that the ice will be ready by that time or that Kelowna's hockey team will be in action. (League action for the Kelowna seniors is not expected to start until the middle of October at the earliest.)

The Ice Sensations was another cross-country show being promoted by Tommy Gorman of Ottawa, the same impresario who brought Barbara Ann Scott here two winters ago.

After making tentative bookings all across the province, Mr. Gorman advised the show had been cancelled. No reason was given.

B.C. Jump Title Won By Weddell

There's a new provincial champion in Kelowna. He's Brian Weddell who Saturday won the high jump event during the B.C. junior track and field championships at Vancouver. Brian cleared 5' 8" to tie the existing record and then went out trying to make 5'10".

Only other Kelowna competitor in the classic was Marilyn Oatman who placed in both the 60-yard and 75-yard heats but failed to show in the finals.

CANCER GROUP ACKNOWLEDGES $100 DONATION

Donation of $100 to the Kelowna Unit, Canadian Cancer Society, was announced today by President-Treasurer Victor Franks.

"The Branch is sincerely grateful to the estate of George Scott for the donation," said Mr. Franks. He also announced the Society received another $40 as a result of the request made last month by the late Thomas Craft.

Before he died, Mr. Kraft, a cancer victim, requested monies usually going towards flowers for the funeral be turned over to the cancer fund instead. Donations now total $60.

New Red Cross Policy Permits Participation In Local Chest Campaign

Red Cross leaders meeting in Kelowna last week ratified a new formula to co-operate with community fund campaigns for joint collection of industrial plants, business firms and private individuals. This is a fundamental change of policy which will permit the Red Cross organizations to join with federated charity drives, such as the Community Chest, in various cities and thus avoid duplication in drives.

In Vancouver this is expected to result in reorganization of the annual canvass for the community chest. The Red Cross national organization has hitherto opposed its local units joining hands with other appeal organizations, although in a number of cities in Canada this ruling by the national body has been ignored, and the Red Cross has worked with other local fund collecting groups.

In Kelowna, the Red Cross has stood apart from the Community Chest, but it is probable that the two local organizations will join hands in Vancouver, as in Kelowna and (Turn to Page 5, Story 1)

KELOWNA City Council at its meeting this Monday, evening will decide what position it will take regarding the new move made by the electrical linemen whom the Council fired for refusing to work on a joint city-company line installation job with employees of the West Kootenay company.

This morning the city was notified that the men were applying for arbitration of the dispute under section 3 of the union agreement between the city and its electrical employees.

The designated clause provides in a case of any disagreement in viewpoint, a grievance committee composed of stewards of the union will discuss the point at issue with the Council without a work stoppage, and if no agreement is reached, arbitration may be asked.

Tonight the Council will decide whether or not it considers the present dispute comes under the clause.

The section providing for a grievance committee of stewards has never been invoked by the union.

The men's request for arbitration will be considered by the labor relations board, which will decide whether or not arbitration is warranted.

Should it so decide, each party of the dispute will appoint one representative and these two will select a third member. The discharged men have already named W. Sands as their representative.

It is possible City Council may waive any technical objections it may have to any arbitration proceedings and adopt the attitude that arbitration is the quickest and easiest means of clarifying the whole situation.

The present situation is a development of the dispute which commenced some two weeks ago when eight city linemen refused to work with the West Kootenay linemen in installing an electrical line to the new substation. The city had agreed with the company that this line should be installed jointly by the city and the company.

The city men objected to work-

James Clement Is Named To Chest Publicity Post

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Community Chest and Welfare Council of Kelowna, C. James Clement was appointed chairman of the public relations and publicity committee, and Mr. Clement's acceptance of this voluntary position brings to the chest many years of experience in Canadian Army (Active) during the war.

He is well known in Kelowna having been born and raised here. Graduating from the Kelowna high school he completed his education at the University of British Columbia, and took a position with the provincial social welfare branch doing his first professional work in this field at Cloverdale. In 1947 he was transferred to Kelowna, and has worked in the city and district since that date. He served with the Canadian Army (Active) during the war.

In part, Mr. Clement's duties with the Community Chest will be to take charge of and promote publicity for the campaign and also to (Turn to Page 8, Story 2)

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE WILL BE GIVEN ARMY VETERANS WHO ARE NOW ENGAGED IN FARMING

WORLD War II army veterans who are farmers or fishermen can now qualify for financial assistance from the army benevolent fund under special provisions which have been designed specifically to meet the needs of persons engaged in agriculture.

The army benevolent fund board has been anxious to ensure that financial aid is available to veterans in agricultural communities in the same measure as for their fellow veterans in the cities.

Accordingly, the board made a study of the effect of the Manitoba flood and other disasters, as they affected the rural population, in comparison to the effect on the urban population. As a result of this study, the board was able to draft a policy which made allowances for the special circumstances facing persons engaged in agriculture when disaster strikes—the chief point being that, in most instances, the disaster will interrupt the earning power of the agriculturalist if his farm turns or his boat is damaged. The board finds that this is in contrast with the city veteran in that, as a person earning wages, his income is not usually interrupted by a fire, flood or similar disaster.

ALL INDUSTRIES

Generally speaking, the board's policy for agricultural veterans provides a measure of assistance for financial difficulties which are being experienced either in connection with the veteran's house, fishing boat or other type of agricultural enterprise in which he is engaged.

The categories of assistance which are particularly applicable in cases where the distress is a household matter are sickness and accident and removal of the head of household.

Under the sickness and accident category, financial assistance may be rendered for medical and general expenses, burial cost for dependents, homestead assistance for payment of outstanding bills when there has been temporary dislocation of income.

When the head of the household has been removed, awards may be made in connection with a re-establishment plan for dependents. Such re-establishment plans may include arrangements for the wife to carry on the agricultural operation or a plan to relocate the dependents in another area where they can re-establish themselves.

When the distress has affected the operation of the veterans' agricultural enterprise, there are three categories under which assistance can be granted to him.

The first of these is the loss, damage or destruction category which in effect means that, should the veteran's home, farm and/or equipment suffer through fire, flood, windstorm, etc., the fund can make a grant in connection with a plan of assistance.

PAY OUTSTANDING BILLS

The second is the temporary dislocation of income category. It works this way: when the earning power of the veteran's agricultural enterprise has been dislocated through some type of unexpected contingency, the fund can make an award to pay up bills and arrears of instalment payments which have been incurred during the periods of economic dislocation. The best example of this type of case arose during the Manitoba flood when a large number of farmers were not able to produce revenue from their enterprises and the fund paid up the accounts which they incurred for operating expenses.

Under the final category—retarded rehabilitation—it is possible to assist the veteran to make a new start when, through an unexpected contingency, his whole rehabilitation plan has failed. At the same time, the board cannot accept the responsibility to guarantee assistance when the reason for distress is a normal hazard of the agricultural venture. Accordingly, when the distress has been brought about through unfavorable weather conditions, or through pestilence or disease of livestock or crop, the veteran must establish that such is an unexpected contingency rather than a normal hazard of the agricultural operation, before assistance can be granted.

Applications to the fund are handled by representatives of the department of veterans affairs, including officials of veterans land act. Also, officials in unemployment insurance commission offices are available to provide information regarding the types of assistance available, and the procedure for applying to the fund.

VALLEY PAPER WINS AWARDS IN COMPETITIONS

The Summerland Review, published by J. R. "Tim" Armstrong, formerly news editor of The Courier, did well in its class in the Canadian Weekly Newspapers competitions, the results of which were announced last week at the annual convention of the association in Winnipeg. The Mason Trophy for the best all-around paper of 3,000 or more circulation, this year went to the Barrie, Ontario, Examiner.

The Kelowna Courier was not entered in any of the competitions. The rules of the competitions make it very difficult for a twice-a-week paper such as The Courier to compete.

CITIES TO SEEK WIDE SERVICES FOR DEFENCE

Seventy-eight resolutions will be considered at the 48th annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, to be held at Harrison Hot Springs, October 9-11. Among these are several submitted by the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association. One concerns the urgency of the present situation, and reads:

Whereas since the conclusion of World War II, the people of our country generally have been lulled into a sense of false security caused partly by our Government's failure to realize that the Far East was a potential danger-spot, and partly due to the fact that our people are lovers of peace;

And whereas the world situation today is such that there might be an abrupt change from peacetime to a wartime basis;

And whereas in such an event there would be only a limited time available in which to prepare for war;

And whereas our defence effort is considered to be inadequate, particularly in regard to civilian defence;

And whereas it is in the interests of our people as a whole that we should immediately take steps to organize all men, women and industry for the particular job they may have to do in case of emergency;

And whereas it takes months properly to organize and train an army;

And whereas at the present time Canada only has the nucleus for an active army;

Be it therefore resolved by this meeting of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association that we demand that our Federal Government take immediate steps to organize the country as a whole and to see that every industry is geared for peak production and that all necessary controls should be initiated without delay;

And be it further resolved that the Government be requested to see that every man over eighteen years of age should be fitted for training, either in the army, navy or air force, and that the necessary number of women be recruited for the women's services;

And be it further resolved that the balance of the nation be registered and be allotted the job for civilian defence;

And be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded immediately to the Provincial and Dominion Governments and the Executive Committee of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

OCEAN MONSTER IS CAUGHT IN SOUTH AFRICA

VERNON—Durban, Natal (South Africa), like the Okanagan, has an Ogopogo all of its own. But the difference between the Springbooks' monster and our Number One tourist dollar-catcher is that they caught theirs.

All of this intelligence came in a letter during the week to The Vernon News from Mrs. A. C. Owen, formerly Bessie Simms of this city. Mrs. Owen and her husband, a U.S. consular official, live at the American Consulate, Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

Mrs. Owen enclosed a clipping from the Durban Sunday Tribune, the head from which reads: "Hideous Monster, Head Like Bulldog, Cast Up On Beach."

"Could it be," wonders the writer, "that this is a third cousin to Ogopogo?"

The Durban monster is described as having a bulldog head and long tapered feathers growing out from above and under its head, which had a pair of great black eyes. When first "fished" out of the sea, the creature's eight feet long body was green and the head pink, with large mottled spots right down its length.

The South African Games and Fisheries Board took possession of the monster, and are trying to get it properly identified. Perhaps some of our local experts could help!

SPECIAL PERMIT EXPIRES SEPT. 12

The building inspector informed City Council Monday night that the six months temporary permit granted A. G. Shelley, proprietor of Speedy Delivery Service, expires early in September.

Mr. Shelley was granted a temporary permit to remove a wooden structure adjacent to the Scout Hall. The building is at present contravening fire limits under the city bylaw.

The building inspector said no move has been made to construct another building to conform with regulations. Temporary permit expires September 12. Mr. Shelley will be informed to this effect.

One alderman remarked that since Mr. Shelley moved to the new site, he had cleaned up the grounds, and that the former vacant lot now looks respectable.

Warren's Paints Finds New, Attractive Home

Back in 1946, a new paint store was opened in Kelowna.

It was called Warren's Paint Supply and was located on Pendzoi Street. During the ensuing years this store was indeed a supply depot as far as paint was concerned. It shipped as far north as Enderby; its southernmost contact was right on the border at Osoyoos.

Now Warren's Paint Supply has moved to a new home at 547 Bernard Avenue, in the new Hoover block. The proprietors feel the move was a good one and an increasing clientele is evidence of their wisdom. They are now right on the main street in a growing section of the city. Their store is a showcase facing Bernard Avenue traffic.

The invitation to enter literally sparkles from the windows and inside, it's a case of love at first sight. The attractive arrangement is such that one is conscious of paint from the moment he sets foot inside the door.

It isn't many seconds before one is asking about color schemes and such things as pints and quarts. And if one isn't doing that he'll be eyeing the wide array of wallpaper.

This is one store where they don't give you the "brush off". As a matter of fact, they specialize in brushes and can instantly supply you with a tiny one for painting a table top, or a huge one to paint a house. As for advice, no one is more obliging, more eager to serve than owner-manager Austin Warren.

He doesn't go for any high-sounding ballyhoo. Mention the store if you like, but as for Mr. Warren, he simply says, "never mind me." Their policy, he stated, was simply to do their best, give good value and good service. They are primarily concerned with customer-satisfaction.

They handle—and what is more important, sell—many well-known brands. In the paint line they have B-H, Lowe Brothers, and Douglas Paints as well.

Siller's of California is also represented by Warren's Paint Supply and the 216 matched color chart is something to see. It is a revolutionary, technical achievement, giving wondrous decorating finishes.

When not talking paint, Austin Warren finds time occasionally for his rose garden. It's his hobby and he loves the aroma of these flowers, their velvet petals, and sublime beauty.

A member of the Kelowna Kiwanis club, he takes a keen interest in club activities.

Mrs. Warren frequently helps her husband and is often on hand to serve customers. Alec Marr has been lending a helping hand, too, during these busy days.

The Passing Parade

MIXED NOTES

As any of you old O. O. McIntyre fans will remember, some of the entertaining man's most effective light stuff came under the casual heading of "Thoughts While Strolling," and I'd like to try something along those lines today.

Curious how a funeral procession on a sunny day seems so much more tragic than on a gloomy one. It's a fact that every top-flight dramatist knows. The most effective setting for a scene of terror is not the ghostly old haunted house in a lightning storm, but a children's playground in sunlight. I'm sorry that all that repetition so quickly killed the song "Ghost Riders in the Sky." It will surely be revived with success some future day. "A herd of red-eyed cows a-plowing" through the ragged skies and up a cloudy draw. What a grand line! Even Vaughn Munroe couldn't sour me on it.

Should be some sort of public recognition for the unsung inventive geniuses who make life simpler. I would nominate the humanitarian who brewed the first liquid mosquito repellent, the most important invention since Scotch tape. Why doesn't some smart airline like TCA give new passengers a little booklet explaining what's happening to them when they fly? Even veteran air travellers never know what all the sounds are about, why the engines change their tune after the take off, or why (in the North Star) they confront the ruby-red of exhaust pipes in night-flying. It would certainly be a step closer to fearless flight. The passenger feels a close sense of identity with the metal and fabric about him, might trust it a little more if he knew what it was there for.

What woman doesn't look more attractive in a French beret? One of the dying words is "Hello." Haven't heard anybody say anything but "Hi" or "Hiya" in many a moon.

Funny how a familiar view takes on new fresh beauty and color if you happen to see it accidentally in a mirror. Have you ever seen the scenery behind you framed suddenly in the rear-view mirror of a car and found the image refreshing?

If I were the hobby type I'd surely start a collection of apt descriptive phrases, small chunks of prose that catch and hold a picture. Irwin Shaw, for example, recently wrote "the lemony smell of floor wax." Or how about Ralph Allen's description of a surf "stroking" a sand beach? A line I liked recently, and can't remember the author, described a spaniel approaching its owner, "head down, shambling in a little ballet of come and prostration." Things I wish I'd written!

You'll be surprised at how many different answers you can get to the question, "What is the most absorbing thing to watch?" Some nominations: a graceful woman's walk, the colored flame of a driftwood beach-fire, the flight of a seagull, the green wake of an ocean liner. . . . Ever see an Englishman whose shoes weren't fiercely polished?

Certainly like to know the secret of the gasoline companies in finding such eager, pleasant station attendants. Bought one single gallon of gas the other day to get me home and the lad gave a dollar's worth of courtesy. . . . And is it just my bad luck or are we living in a time when some dark and seductive sorrow over life? Haven't had a smile from one in recent weeks.

Must do a column some day on male gossip versus female gossip. Seems to me that a group of males are just as catty about mutual acquaintances as the ladies. Maybe more. What a silly world when so many people spend so much of their time at the indoor sport of character assassination. . . . Looks as if the day of the garage is over. Architect friend tells me that he hasn't designed a house in the last year that didn't have a "car port" open on all sides. Which raises the problem of what to do with all the useless things that used to end up in the garage.

Nothing has the freshness of unconscious humor, as for the paragraph in a news story this week, which read as follows: "Mr. Campbell's defense counsel asked for clemency because his client has an amputated leg and has no other means of support."

Can never understand why so many people purchase the smooth and meaningless trash of the New Yorker magazine is available. In 15 years of reading that weekly I've never tired of its wise and tolerant view of life and the times. . . . Has anybody ever figured out an answer to those nearly citizens who greet you with, "What's new?"

DELINQUENTS MAY LOSE THEIR LAND

KAMLOOPS—Trustees of B.C. Fruitlands Irrigation District have fixed November 15 as the date when lands will be sold at public auction to recover delinquent water district taxes. Lands in the "delinquent" category are those on which 1949 taxes have not yet been paid.

The Irrigation District's secretary will notify all owners of such lands prior to the legal date for official notification. Subsequently, final notice will be forwarded by registered mail.

If the delinquent taxes are paid before the date specified by law, the owner will not be assessed tax sale costs. However, those that are delinquent after that date, and those which are actually sold for taxes will be assessed those charges.

During 1950 a total of $60,000,000 was paid out by Workmen's Compensation Boards in industrial accident cases.

CONSUMERS LIKE APPLE JUICE CONCENTRATE

YAKIMA, Wash.—Members of a special statewide apple industry committee heard with optimism the final reports on the vital frozen apple juice concentrate search project that has captured the interest of growers and non-growers throughout Washington apple areas for the past year.

Production and engineering specialists of the federal Western Regional Research Laboratory at Albany, Calif., and sales and merchandising experts of the U.S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics and Washington State College—all of whom have co-operated with Washington growers and shippers in the tests—announced that production procedures for the apple concentrate juice drink have been standardized to the point of becoming economically feasible.

They held out careful but highly promising indications of ready consumer acceptance for the new Washington apple product.

Meeting in a day-long session in the Chinook hotel, members of the special committee, chairmanned by Reuben Benz of Yakima, joined with representatives of the Washington Apple Commission (which group has helped to underwrite expense of the project) and government research representatives in examining in closest detail phases of actual sales tests of the juice concentrate in Modesto, Calif., and in Tyler, Texas.

During a brief 10-week test period it was learned that 31 percent of homemakers in Tyler and 25 percent of those in Modesto were aware of the new product, and of such number 22 percent in Tyler and 16 percent in Modesto had purchased the juice. Repeat purchases of the concentrated juice were found to be frequent, with many housewives who were interviewed reporting four or more purchases during the test period.

Research on production techniques at the Albany laboratory was also detailed to the committee. Successful utilization of a high percentage of Delicious variety juice in a highly satisfactory blend was noted with special approval by the committee.

More than a year ago it announced as one of its principal aims the development of additional processing outlets for lower grades of that particular variety.

The concentrated apple juice selected from earlier tests and used in the final Modesto and Tyler sales was a blend containing 55 percent Delicious, 25 percent Jonathan, 15 percent Winesap, and 5 percent Golden Delicious. The final blend of juice is concentrated at a 4 to 1 ratio so that the final frozen product, when removed from 6-ounce retail tins, can be reconstituted with three equal parts of water. Advantages of the concentrate over ordinary single strength apple juice were pointed out—principally, the better flavor and aroma of fresh apples, economy and ease of transportation, and ease and length of storage life.

TRADITIONAL WHITE RAPIDLY DISAPPEARING FROM KITCHENS

Summer is not usually the time one thinks of indoor painting, but with plenty of help around the house and energy to burn, some of the smaller jobs may be tackled. For example, it is not too late to paint a kitchen using modern finishes, and the results more than justify the time spent. Perhaps it's a job you've been putting off for some time, or perhaps your fancy has been captured by a gay kitchen advertisement in a magazine showing the radically new attitude which decorators have adopted towards the kitchen.

There was a time when the kitchen was said to be a "laboratory," or a "workshop," a place for maximum efficiency and minimum comfort, but the color expert with his knowledge of the psychological effect produced by good color planning, has changed all that.

Think of the kitchen as a "workshop" if you like, but remember that in the workshop of today color makes a powerful statement. Working areas are finished in colors that will throw the machinery, or the product on which the worker is employed into bold relief. Eyestrain is thus reduced to a minimum. Surroundings are made cheerful and friendly through the use of color, and the worker is encouraged to think of the factory as a "home away from home."

In a similar manner, the kitchen can be transformed into a place where you want to work, rather than a place where jobs have to be completed with the utmost speed.

COLOR SCHEME
Just what the individual color scheme of any particular kitchen should be depends on a wide range of factors. Points to be considered are the size and shape of the room, the color preferences of the family (though inevitably some compromise will be involved), and the amount of available light. In general, a sound suggestion is that the colors on walls, ceilings and large pieces of equipment be bright and cheerful but not gaudy. Color highlights may usually be left to small objects.

There is no limit to the colors which may be used in the kitchen. Today's kitchens have such color schemes as three walls in Dutch yellow, and the fourth wall in coral, with cupboard interiors finished in coral, and the ceiling white; blue-gray walls, with bright blue linoleum and working surfaces, cupboard interiors and trim in white; and particularly bright kitchen with large window area has three walls in laurel green, the window wall and ceiling white and cupboard interiors cherry red. Where a kitchen is predominantly white, the dead quality of the color can be enlivened by cupboard interiors, linoleum and working surfaces in maroon.

NEW BIG BEND ROAD PLANNED

VICTORIA—The Big Bend section of the Trans-Canada Highway between Revelstoke and Golden may be re-routed on a more direct line if a survey now being undertaken on the federal government level shows the Big Bend area can be utilized as a water storage basin for production of paper.

The study being made in conjunction with Columbia River engineering experts from the United States.

The Big Bend Highway follows the Columbia on a sweeping curve to the north between Revelstoke and Golden.

Public Works Minister Carson said that if studies prove the feasibility of using the river as a storage basin the present highway would have to be re-routed.

No big expenditure will be made on the Big Bend road until it is determined whether the reservoir will be built.

The province is a joint partner with the federal government in regard to this road.

Mr. Carson said he had received federal government approval to start surveys of a new route from Revelstoke to Golden. He explained, however, that he did not have sufficient staff to undertake the survey this year.

It is believed such a survey would result in plans for a considerably shorter highway between Revelstoke and Golden.

Recommendations from the committee is to be presented within the next five days to the Washington State Horticultural Association and to the Washington State Apple Commission.

Slam-Bang Final Series on Tap With Bruins Against Klippers

By AL DENEGRIE

ONE of the toughest finals in Interior Lacrosse Association history is indicated for sports fans, starting at Kamloops tomorrow night.

Co-starring in the best-of-seven struggle will be Kelowna Bruins and the Kamloops Klippers. Both made the final Saturday night in sweeping fashion, Kamloops taking the measure of Vernon Tigers in a savage encounter, and Bruins ousting Salmon Arm Aces in another bitter battle.

Second game comes off here this Thursday, with the third at Kamloops Saturday. President Tom Griffiths will announce dates of further games later.

The combatants in the final ended one and two in the league race with Kamloops making a runaway and suffering only two defeats out of 24 starts. Klippers actually had a third loss tagged on them but this was reversed later by the commission when Vernon Tigers were penalized for using improperly registered players.

One of the two recognized losses was administered by the fast-improving Bruins in their final league meeting. It was Kelowna's greatest victory of the season, a 15-8 triumph that became Kamloops' worst defeat of the season.

Since that time the Bruins have sharpened their skill further. On the other hand the Klippers have ample scars to show for the gruelling series against the Tigers. Unlikely starters Tuesday are Ray Dominici, suffering from a recurring shoulder injury, and Bud Harradine, who twisted his knee at Vernon Saturday.

All in all the experts aren't betting much one way or the other. But local supporters believe the Bruins have a better than average chance of retaining their I.L.A. laurels for a third year—providing a full team can be floored for the games at Kamloops.

Adanacs In Upset Win Over Spikes

In the greatest upset of the Interior Baseball League this year, Rutland Adanacs are finalists for the league pennant.

The Aces swamped Revelstoke Spikes 21-6 at Rutland yesterday to take the best-of-three semi-final in two straight. They will meet either Kamloops C.Y.O. or Kamloops Okonoks in the final.

At present the two Kamloops nines are all-square, Okonoks defeating C.Y.O. 18-6 at Kamloops yesterday. Third and deciding game comes off Wednesday.

The Spikes, who went through league play undefeated until well past the half-way mark and then ended with only three losses, were hardly in the game yesterday.

Adanacs, led by Sam Olynik and Lefty Pratico from the mound and treated veteran "Prad" Pradolini with little respect.

Hugh Stewart was in control all the way for the stunning victory. Bob Campbell again paced the Aces with a triple, double and three singles. Pratico homered for the Spikes with one on for the game's only four-baser.

TERNAN CAPTAINS TEAM

KAMLOOPS—C. C. (Gee) Ternan will captain the Rotary Club's golf team in the interclub match to be played on Sept. 12 at the Kamloops Golf and Country Club.

READY TO FORGIVE IF PADS RETURNED

If Kelowna Bruins lose out to Kamloops Klippers some unknown individual will get blamed for it—unless he or she returns Terry O'Brien's shoulder and kidney pads.

The feet-footed wingman had these articles hanging outside at the rear of the liquor store to dry Saturday afternoon. When he completed his day's work he found the strip gone.

He managed to borrow someone else's for Saturday's game at Salmon Arm.

Team management is willing to overlook the "loan" if these necessary items of equipment are returned forthwith.

ROVERS BEHIND EIGHT-BALL IN SOFTBALL FINAL

Vernon Knight's Wolves came through with a resounding 9-2 victory at Rutland Park last night over the Rutland Rovers to become favorites for the Interior softball title.

With Gordon Powell giving up only six hits, the Wolves overcame an early lead in the opening game of the best-of-three final. Balance of the series will be played on the Wolves' own diamond in Vernon next Sunday.

Fred Rieger was charged with the loss. Al Manarin also saw hurling action, replacing Rieger in the last inning.

Kelowna-Spiked Nut House Softball Nine Wins B.C. Women's Title

Kelowna has more than mild interest in the success of Vancouver Nut House women's senior A softball team.

Four city and district girls are signed with the team that last week surprised the experts by winning the provincial title in a three-straight final over Vancouver Mut-uais.

Rutland's Ethel Ramsay won the first and third game. Also a major factor in the victory with her timely hitting and fielding was Alwilda Minette, a star last year with Kelowna Aces.

Other former Kelowna Aces with the Nut House nine are Bev Forsyth and Zenda Rantucci.

Nut house finished in third place in league play but won all six play-off games. The team left yesterday for Alberta for the first round of the Western Canada playoffs. Mut-uais won the Western Canada crown last year.

B.C. SOFTBALL FINAL HERE OR IN VERNON

VERNON—B.C. senior B men's softball final will be staged either in Vernon or Kelowna at the beginning of next month.

Locals depend on whether Knight's Wolves of Vernon or Rutland Rovers become Interior titlists. Their best-of-three final will be concluded here next Saturday.

The provincial final will bring the Vancouver Island-Lower Mainland winners to the Okanagan for a best-of-three series, with the first game on Sept. 1 and the second and third (if required) on Sept. 2.

Bruins Trump Aces Hard To Go One-up In Playoff

KELOWNA 19, SALMON ARM 7

LIKE a brick of ice cream that started out firm but began to run in the sun, the Salmon Arm Aces just didn't have it when they came up against the hard-rock Kelowna Bruins here Thursday.

The rough-and-ready Bruins smashed their way to a clear-cut 19-7 victory to all but clinch a berth in the Interior Lacrosse Association's senior B final.

The largest crowd of the year (nearly 850 paid) saw the Bruins wear the ever-trying Aces down to stages. The northwesterners gave their all in the first two quarters, keeping the Bruins in sight.

But in the last half their resistance was more or less token as the Bruins scored almost at will.

Roy Beech's third place Aces scored the game's first goal but that was the only time they led.

RAPID SCORING
Three Kelowna goals that came faster than you can tell about them proved to be the turning point. All three were chalked up right after the main breather and before the third canto was 42 seconds old.

The encounter featured brilliant goalkeeping by Al Laface and Dale Boutwell. Another highlight was the return of Don Fleming who beat Boutwell three times with his bullet drive and turned in his best game of the season, helping on three other goals.

Fleming missed action the past two months, pinned down to a job at Oliver.

Another veteran was in fine fettle, too. Terry O'Brien proved deadly with his low shots, tallying a hat-trick.

FLOOR FOTOS—A rarity in local games was on tap Thursday when a penalty shot was awarded to BUD PERRY. But AL LAFACE outfoxed him nicely. . . . Despite the savage checking, tempers were fairly well controlled. . . . Only one actual flareup (it was quelled quickly), though there could've been others with another little push. . . . First quarter was the fastest-moving opener seen here this season. It had so much in common with the rest of the game was sort of letdown. . . . Most frustrated man of the night was DON GILLARD who had nine clean shots on goal and DALE BOUTWELL was there every time. Usually good for four or five points at least.

Don ended with a solitary assist. Pickins were almost as slim for ACES' head sniper FRED DAVIES, who was held to one of each. . . . ALBERT BIANCO paced the marksmen with five tallies and one helper.

Here's why a further quarter of a billion dollars is being invested by Aluminum Company of Canada in

"OPERATION ALUMINUM"

Aluminum is being put to so many uses these days that Canada's aluminum industry, begun at Shawinigan Falls in 1900, and already grown to giant size, is embarked on another vast expansion program.

More dams, powerhouses, smelting facilities in Quebec... a whole new operation in British Columbia... these great forward strides will further step up Canada's aluminum capacity to a total of more than half a million tons a year.

Today the names "Peribonka" and "Kitimat" mean nothing to most Canadians. Right now they head blueprints — blueprints of work in the planning stage, of work in progress with thousands of men already on the job.

"Shawinigan", "Shipshaw" and "Arvida" were new names, too, many years ago. Today they are living reminders to Canadians — and to the world — that Alcan has grown, developing this country's resources so that now it produces a quarter of the world's aluminum supply.

On the Peribonka River in Quebec, Alcan is harnessing two cataraacts — Chute-du-Diable and Chute-à-la-Savanne. These will provide hydro-electric power for a big addition to aluminum output and additional power resources for the Saguenay District.

Meanwhile, up coast 400 miles from Vancouver, a whole new aluminum operation is planned. Where now stands the tiny Indian village of Kitimat, a whole new town will be built; here Alcan will construct a huge smelter. At Kemona, 50 miles away, Alcan will build a powerhouse inside a mountain; a ten-mile tunnel through this mountain will carry water from a chain of lakes down a 2,600 foot drop to develop an eventual 2,000,000 h.p. capacity.

This "Operation Aluminum" means jobs for thousands of Canadians. It means additional millions of dollars coming into this country from abroad, for much of this aluminum will be exported.

It means additional low-cost aluminum for Canada's own use — metal which a thousand plants throughout the country use to fashion everything from utensils and toys to airplanes and bridges.

"Operation Aluminum" is a big thing for Canadians and for the free democratic world. It means a further line of defence against aggression. And it means a busier, more prosperous country in which to live and work.

Kelowna In Bygone Days

From the Files of The Kelowna Courier

ONE YEAR AGO

Thursday, August 17, 1950

Junior swimmers from Kelowna were the whole show at Lake Okanagan and Naramata and gave Ocean Falls' strong contingent a close race for top honors at Cultus Lake.

The 92-year-old B.C. Police Force came to an official end at midnight August 14 when they automatically became part of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who took over provincial policing duties at that time.

High temperature during July was 94. The month ended with two heavy rainfalls, aggregating 2.28 inches.

Thursday, August 11, 1921

The most disastrous fire in the history of Kelowna up to this time broke out in the warehouse of Dominion Cannery of B.C. Ltd. and spread with extraordinary rapidity, despite the heroic efforts of the Volunteer Fire Brigade to check it. Seeing that the warehouse and the adjoining factory were doomed, the brigade tried to save the adjoining buildings in which they were successful with the exception of the frame structure occupied by Shepard Fruit Products Ltd. Six lines of hose were laid by the firemen and a number of private lines were also brought into use.

The roofs of several premises caught fire in a number of places but all the outbreaks were quelled after a hard fight of two hours' duration. And just in time because just after 11 p.m. the water supply failed. (There was no reservoir at this time and the water supply was pumped direct from the lake.) The pumps gave yeoman service, keeping up as near 120 pounds pressure as possible despite a severe overload but the main leading from them gave out. Hasty repairs provided an intermittent supply of water but it was a most fortunate circumstance that such breeze as had been gradually died away and the fire itself slowly burned itself out. Aggregate damage was estimated at close to $200,000.

July, 1921, was a cool month, although rain fell only on one day. Highest temperature reading was 83 and only on nine days did the mercury exceed 79. Mean high for the month was 70.48.

OLD JOBS OPEN TO DISCHARGED SERVICE MEN

By the veterans benefit act, 1951, passed at the last session of parliament, the government of Canada has extended and made applicable the provisions of the reinstatement in civil employment act, 1946, to all persons enlisting in the regular forces of Canada after July 5, 1950 and who served therein for a term not exceeding three years.

This provision extends also to members of the special force who re-engage for service with the regular forces, the three-year coverage period beginning with the date of re-engagement.

The provision extends also to members of the reserve forces who after July 5, 1950, are called out for service with the regular forces and serve with the regular forces for a period not exceeding three years.

By an order-in-council passed in 1950, the Canada forces act the provisions of the reinstatement in civil employment act, 1946, were extended to members of the special force and members of the reserve forces who serve on the strength of the special force. The reinstatement provision of this order-in-council have now been incorporated in the provisions of the veterans benefit act, 1951.

Under the reinstatement in civil employment act a discharged person may claim reinstatement either verbally or in writing, usually within three months of discharge in Canada or four months if discharged overseas. (There is provision for extension of this time when through a condition of health the employee cannot return to his employment this soon, but the employer must be notified in three or four months, as the case may be, and a reinstatement officer should be consulted.

The employee must be reinstated under conditions not less favorable than he would have enjoyed had he continued on in employment instead of joining the Forces. This means:

(a) That the period with the services is to count for seniority rights, pension rights, vacations with pay and other benefits;

(b) Returning employees are to be given promotions or pay increases they would have received had they remained in continuous employment;

(c) Any skill acquired while in the service, and useful to the employer, is to be taken into account in adjusting the wage rates;

(d) Any period of mental or physical disability following discharge which warrants delay in reinstatement under the act, is to be counted as a period of service in the armed forces, and as a period of service with the employer.

When a discharged person cannot perform his former duties, the employer must reinstate him in the most suitable employment available at which he is capable of working.

Reinstatement officers are located in local offices of the national employment service. Particulars of the application of the act may be obtained by consultation with these officers.

Okanagan Cariboo Tour Arranged For September

A goodwill and publicity tour sponsored by the Okanagan Cariboo Trail Association will visit the Cariboo country and go over the new John Hart highway to Dawson Creek in September.

The caravan will start at Klamath Falls, Oregon, and follow highway 97 through Yakima and Wenatchee, north across the border to Kelowna. At Kelowna the group will change from private cars to buses and, leaving here on the morning of September 13th, will lunch at Kamloops and go on to Williams Lake, that afternoon.

On the 14th the party will move to Prince George and stay the night there and the following day will tour the Hart highway.

The purpose of the tour is twofold. First, it is to give publicity to the route as the shortest route to Alaska from the western and Pacific States. Secondly, it is hoped the tour will interest the northern B.C. communities to link up with the association, which has as its purpose to divert tourist traffic from the heavily-travelled route 99 at Weed, to highway 97 and northwards through the Okanagan and the Cariboo countries.

In Kelowna the American party is expected to arrive on the 12th about 6:00 p.m. There will be a dinner sponsored by the Kelowna Board of Trade and the party will stop here over night.

The mileage from Weed, California, to the junction of highways 97 and 99, to Prince George is 1,223 miles. From Prince George to Dawson Creek on the Alaska highway, the Hart highway covers 231 miles. Thus the highway association hopes to extend its influence over 1,455 miles of attractive tourist country, a country which embodies everything the tourist desires.

VERNON WATER IS RUNNING SHORT

VERNON—This city's domestic water situation can best be described as "touch and go," according to a statement by City Engineer F. G. deWolf, Wednesday.

There is about three weeks potential supply at the present time. At the current rate of consumption, which is slightly more than 3,000,000 gallons daily, there is enough water for two weeks in Dixon Dam. The city is drawing from the dam so as to maintain the level at Pine Street reservoir, where there is a further week's supply.

Potential rationing depends on the weather for the remainder of this month. The supply rests entirely on the citizens' themselves, Mr. deWolf said. If they are sensible and conserve the water and not waste it as has been done in a number of instances, they may escape rationing. Some people leave the garden hose running at night. These and others who similarly waste water are likely to have their garden taps disconnected, according to Mr. deWolf.

Tuesday night's rain was valuable inasmuch as it stopped garden sprinkling, but the ground was so dry there was no runoff, and the rain did not affect either reservoir. The city engineer drew the attention of citizens to the bylaw which requires that all sprinkler systems be turned off during a fire.

Needlecraft News by Pauline Roy

WOMEN for centuries have been familiar with the arts and experts in needlecraft. All of us have done our share at one time or another through pleasure or sometimes necessity. Needlework is a must and high on the list of requirements for the perfect wife. The women-to-day are well aware of this and daily they are becoming more enthusiastic about all the things they can do and all the things they can make. They know the nicer things, and they know how to go about getting them.

Embroidery is one of the oldest types of all fancywork. The ladies of the courts used to work designs depicting the events of the day. Some of these masterpieces have given us important historical information. It was one of their greatest pleasures and forms of relaxation.

We do not have quite so much leisure time to-day as women at still able to enjoy the pleasure of embroidery. They like to be able to bring to life copies of the beauties of nature and to work them into a piece of fabric by using a needle. They embroider on everything, on pillow cases, luncheon sets, towels and on clothing. A well-done piece is truly a thing of beauty and much to be admired. You too can have this pleasure and see for yourself what fun it is. The lovely things you make will be useful to you or you can use them as gifts for your friends. The sewing circle is growing. The modern girl is doing more and enjoying every minute of it.

A pretty handkerchief is a treasure. It adds a bright spot to any costume. A hand-made handkerchief is costly to buy and it is inexpensive and so much fun to make. These pretty, simple designs have a professional look. You can choose your own colors. The ones pictured here are embroidered with three shades of yellow, tangerine, nasturtium, two shades of green and turkey red. You can work the designs on all white or on colored linen handkerchiefs. If you wish to make these EMBROIDERED HANDKERCHIEFS, a leaflet with detailed instructions is available. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this paper and ask for sewing more and enjoying every minute of it.

TIMELY RECIPES

1. Q. What are the characteristics of good jelly?
A. A good jelly is clear and transparent; it is firm enough to hold its shape when unmoulded and cut; it is tender, not tough or gummy; it has the "fruit" flavor characteristic of its kind.

2. Q. What three ingredients are necessary for jelly-making?
A. Pectin, acid and sugar are necessary in the correct proportions.

3. Q. Which fruits make good jelly?
A. Fruits which contain large amounts of pectin and acid make good jelly. Examples of these are sour apples, crabapples, cranberries, currants, gooseberries, grapes, and sour plums. Most other fruits are lacking in either pectin or acid, but may be combined with fruit having a high pectin and high acid content.

4. Q. How ripe should fruit be when made into jelly?
A. A mixture of about equal parts of slightly underripe fruit, which contains more pectin, and fully ripe fruit, which has better flavor, is considered best.

5. Q. How can you test for pectin?
A. Boil the fruit juice for three minutes. Then measure one tea-spoon fruit juice and one tea-spoon rubbing alcohol into a small dish. Blend quickly together and let stand 30 seconds. If a jelly-like mass or clot is formed, the juice contains sufficient pectin. The sugar may then be added.

6. Q. What determines the amount of sugar to be used in jelly-making?
A. The amount of pectin determines the amount of sugar. Three-quarters of a cup of sugar is allowed for each cup of extracted juice, unless a heavy clot is formed in the pectin test. The heavy clot shows that the juice is rich in pectin, and one cup of sugar for each cup of extracted juice should then be used.

7. Q. Should jelly be boiled slowly or rapidly?
A. Jelly should be boiled rapidly; otherwise the pectin may be destroyed by long slow cooking.

8. Q. How can you tell when the jelling point is reached?
A. Dip a spoon into the syrup and allow some of the syrup to run off the edge of the spoon. When drops form and flow together to form a "sheet," the jelly stage is reached.

9. Q. Why does jelly sometimes fail to set?
A. There may be several reasons for this:

(1) Using over-ripe fruit or fruit lacking in pectin.

(2) Too short a boiling time.

(3) Too much sugar in proportion to the amount of pectin and acid.

(4) Too much water used in extracting the juice.

(5) A. Jelly may become tough if too little sugar for the amount of pectin and acid is used. Overcooking results in gummyness.

(6) Q. Why is jelly not always clear?
A. A cloudiness may result from improper straining, or by squeezing the bag. Too great a proportion of green fruit may also cause cloudiness.

(7) Q. What makes crystals form in jelly?
A. Crystals may result from an excess of sugar, insufficient acid or over-cooking the jelly. Tartaric acid may cause crystals in grape jelly, but this can usually be prevented by letting the grape juice stand in a cold place before making into jelly. The crystals will settle to the bottom and the juice may be carefully drained off.

(8) Q. What makes jelly weep?
A. Weeping occurs in fruits high in acid. This is thought to be caused by a contraction of the jelly mass which squeezes out liquid, similar to the separation of the whey from the curd of milk.

(9) If dribbles of jelly are not wiped off the inside of the glass above the jelly level, the grape juice will form a good seal and weeping may result. A slightly moistened clean cloth should be used to do this.

(10) Anyone who would like the bulletin entitled "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" may obtain same free of charge by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. This booklet contains a variety of excellent recipes for jams and jellies.

BRIDAL SHOWER IS HELD FOR MISS M. BROWN

Miss Maureen Brown, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Brown, Royal Avenue, was the guest of honor at a surprise miscellaneous shower Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. A. H. Taylor, Royal Avenue, when Mrs. A. S. Wade was co-hostess with Mrs. Povah.

The delightfully arranged tea table was centred by a sweetheart cake, and flanked by the maroon and gold colors of Washington State College, at Pullman, where both the bride and groom-elect are students.

Among the 23 guests present were the bride-elect's mother, who presided over the coffee cups at the table during the serving of refreshments, and Miss Nancy Sanford, who arrived at Kelowna from the week from Pittsburgh to be bridesmaid at Miss Brown's wedding to Mr. Archie Matthews which takes place August 22.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TOURIST COURTS

The Editor,
Kelowna Courier.

I have read with some amusement, not unmixed with contempt, your front page article of Aug. 13, entitled "No Flaming Cases Where Tourists Victimized By Local Camp Owners." Clearly this very informative article was not written for the purpose of pointing out the inequities of our sister city Penticton, but rather as a means of taking a sneak punch at one of the resort owners in this community. True a charge of $14.00 for a cabin apartment is a high charge, but if the apartments are fine enough, and if the apartment accommodates from four to six persons, it may not be so far out of line with many other necessities, for example, meat at a dollar a pound, eggs at ninety cents a dozen, a haircut at seventy five cents, a pair of boots at fifteen dollars, or a suit of clothes at ninety. In any case it is the writer's opinion that Penticton is well able to clean up her own mess, without any assistance from virtuous Kelowna citizens. Such propaganda pointing out the sins of our sister city, when apparently the particulars are not too well known; can create no good feeling among Okanagan centres, where good feeling is absolutely essential for the best progress of the community.

The story was really written in order to bring out the paragraph headed "One Local Case." A spokesman for Kelowna and district auto courts stated that the only case that has come to light locally concerned one camp which charged $8.00 per night plus $1.00 for use of the refrigerator.

Who is this "spokesman for the Kelowna Auto Courts" since Kelowna and district auto courts (to their shame) have had no organization or association for several years. Perhaps this self-appointed small town "big mouth" will come out in the open so that the auto court people may know who their spokesman really is.

Concerning the price of eight dollars being too high for a four or five-persons apartment, of as high a standard as the one that I think this "spokesman" has in mind, that is hard to understand. The apartments are large and roomy, equipped with kitchen facilities and everything from electric ranges to toasters and fans. The apartments are of the finest, and each suite has its private bath or shower and the beds are obtainable. Compare this to the price paid by hundreds of couples that in rush periods are crammed into one small room, at a charge of four dollars per couple. Hotel rooms, rooms in private homes, or what have you, with no kitchen facilities, no private bath, and no privacy. As for the charge of the refrigerator, the operator that I have in mind has a central refrigerator, where guests are allowed to store eatables at no cost.

There are not enough small refrigerators for all the apartments, but those desiring one can have an apartment with refrigerator at an additional charge. Most guests do not want a refrigerator, but whether they do or not is entirely optional.

The person who wrote the Courier article seems strongly in favor of having auto courts rates fixed by the government, and in favor of having the rates posted up in the apartment. However, since he admits that such action has not yet become law except in his own imagination, perhaps he might inform us a little further. Does he intend to put a price ceiling on all commodities, including food, clothing, metal products and wages; is it only the auto courts that he intends to regulate? When he has fixed the ceiling for auto court rates, what about a floor? Or is he going to allow rates to drop as low as possible? And if he is going to regulate auto court owners, what about the guests? Admittedly, too, are the finest people in the world. That is, most of them are; but what about the fellow who shops around from court to court, until he finds a good one that he can afford to hire. Once he has registered, he promptly goes out and buys twenty or thirty dollars worth of liquor, and starts celebrating. His friends come around to visit, until the apartment is crammed with several times as many as originally registered; all bringing in dust and mud, for the operator to pitch out with the bottles in the morning. "Disorderly" not at all, some are perfectly quiet and orderly.

The writer of the article gives Banff as an example of a place where apartment rates are always posted up in the apartment; but he did not inform us of the rates. Perhaps I can give our learned friend a few Banff rates taken from a dependable tourist directory.

Banff Springs Hotel, Room only for two with bath, $15.00.
Old Homestead Hotel, Room only for two with bath, $6.50. Mount Royal Hotel, Room only for two with bath, $5 to $8.50.

CABINS

Becker Bungalows. Four persons with bath, up to $15.00.
Johnsons Bungalows. Two persons with bath up to $12.00.

How do these rates compare with the eight dollar rate that was charged for the same class of accommodation at Kelowna, and where the writer claims the rates are not posted up; though as a matter of fact, the operator to whom he refers has had his rates posted since last spring. As a matter of fact, although rates are low I am positive that as good auto court accommodation is to be had (not one court but several) in Kelowna, as at any other city in Canada. However, if two dollars per person per day is too high for some persons; there are between thirty and forty courts in Kelowna and district; and not by any means all of the same calibre. There should be plenty of opportunity of finding the kind of accommodation the average guest can afford.

There are many things wrong with the tourist industry at Kelowna, but I do not think high rates is one of them. Rather, they are exceptionally low compared to the same class of accommodation in other places. What Kelowna needs and what they must have before things are what they should be, is a strong viable Auto Courts Association. One that will work for the whole industry, the whole community; rather than for a few greedy, well-favored individuals. What Kelowna needs is more tourists rather than less, and she needs them more evenly distributed throughout the year; and to keep them longer once they are here. What she needs most is roads, so that people can get in here easier and faster. She must have some way of entertaining tourists, especially in winter, and this is not a job for an individual, but can be done by organized effort.

In conclusion, I wish to say that I know the Okanagan quite well. I know of no place with greater possibilities nor no place where such possibilities have been more sadly neglected. I also have friends here and it is on their behalf that I am writing this letter.

Yours truly,

TERRANCE O'BRIEN.

Edmonton, Alta.

(Editor's Note—If Mr. O'Brien would take the trouble to read the article, he would find that the article was written with the intent to show that tourist courts in Kelowna are generally pretty well run and that there is no indication here of the conditions which have given such concern to the Penticton city council and the trade journal. The article was written to show that the writer of the Courier story, when the remarks were those of Penticton councilmen. For instance, speaking of rate control, he quotes the person who wrote The Courier article, "when in the story remarks about rate control were clearly attributed to Mayor Rathbun of Penticton. Another example: He says in speaking of rates at Banff, "The writer of the article," when actually the only remarks about Banff in the story were really attributed to Alderman Christian of Penticton.

This newspaper does not know and does not want to know the court concerned in this area which prompted him to rise in its defence. It is interested in knowing that conditions here are generally satisfactory. Practically all courts contacted by this newspaper, and they have been many over the past few weeks, have been pleased with their treatment here.

The key, of course, to Mr. O'Brien's somewhat heated remarks is to be found in the last sentence of his letter.)

LATIN TRANSLATION

August 17, 1951

The Editor,
Kelowna Courier.
I was glad to see in your paper a letter from D. C. Fillmore protesting against inaccurate reports of our Regatta weather. I should like to add another complaint about a piece of canoodling on the part of the reporter of the Vancouver Sun which, combined with his exaggeration of our weather conditions, would tend to make Vancouver people think that Kelowna is not only half-baked but also half-educated.

Everybody must have noticed the large Latin motto heading the Roman background of the Lady of the Lake pageant. The Sun reporter, seeing it through some kind of Ro-other cities, a single unified campaign has been sought for some time. In December last year a survey by the Vancouver Board of Trade showed almost 90 per cent of canvassers and contributors favored the unified campaign.

The Red Cross decision was made in Washington, D.C., by the board of governors.

Undoubtedly the new plan will be generally adopted in Canada as well as the United States, for reasons common to both countries.

Six safeguarding provisions were outlined as conditions on which Red Cross would join with all other charities approved for a joint drive in any given city.

One of the provisions is that the general fund be known as the Community Chest-Red Cross campaign. Another is that the Red Cross reserves the right to declare publicly its budgetary requirements for the particular area involved.

This change is in recognition of the growing desire of business, industry and labor to reduce the number of appeals to workers, to reduce the cost of conducting campaigns and to reduce the manpower authorized in campaigns.

The new policy of the Red Cross will doubtless be reflected in other national charity organizations. In recent years, when Red Cross held aloft, it was an excuse for other charities on a national basis to conduct their own drives. The duplication was tremendous.

While no comment was forthcoming from either local Red Cross or Chest officials, it is expected that the local Red Cross branch will follow the lead of the national organization. Discussions between the two local groups will probably take place shortly.

gatta heat haze, no doubt, added to it an extra letter, and then applied a translation all his own and quite inaccurate.

I suggest that in future the Sun reporter avoid inserting foreign words, of which he is clearly not a master, and stick to such English as he is master of.

The Sun reported the motto as "Pulchritudo omnia regit" and translated that as "Beauty Always Reigns." The correct motto was "Pulchritudo omnia regit" which means "Beauty Rules All Things."

Yours truly,

carry on the important work of familiarizing the public with the work of the chest agencies throughout the year. It has long been felt that too little was being said about the excellent work which is being carried on by the agencies, which participate in community chest funds.

Early in September Mr. Clement will be taking his leave of the social welfare branch to accept a position as a life underwriter. He plans to work for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada and will continue to live in Kelowna.

not turned in completely but the list of junior regatta results published elsewhere on this page is as fully covered as possible.

Promoters and sponsors of the man of the lake contest outdid themselves this year. The clever takeoff on the annual Lady-of-the-Lake pageant saw John Agassiz, the Kelowna War Canoe Club's candidate, crowned as man of the lake for 1951.

He received the symbol of royalty from last year's bearer, Terry Johnson.

The new man of the lake, posing as All Khan ("Alley Can") complete with retinue and atmosphere, was chosen by none other than the Lady-of-the-Lake Faye Weeks and her Lady-in-Waiting, Janice Cahoon, who acted as judges.

Out of the ordinary highlights were the exhibition diving by Dr. George Athans, Miss Margaret Hutton's ornamental swimming exhibition and the rhythm swimming by Miss Hutton.

Miss Hutton, whose "The show must go on" spirit during the Regatta proper, when she performed, in spite of re-injuring her ailing back, was acclaimed by the few who knew about it, is recognized as the premier ornamental swimmer on the continent.

She has been spending her summers in Kelowna the past three years.

Earlier one of the Courier Cups awarded annually to the boy and girl who, in the opinion of the instructors, showed the most progress during the Kelowna Aquatic Association's free swim classes, was presented to Kenny Kitch, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Kitch.

Winner of the girl's cup was announced as Christine Love, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Love, Bankhead. She was in Summerland for the day and didn't know about her success until this morning.

Rowing races, war canoe events and water skiing exhibitions rounded out a varied program.
